GLEBEFARM TUPTASTIC

We're delighted to welcome you to our first online sale.

We focus on the fundamentals that make North Country Cheviots so special, and we've been fortunate to build our foundation on exceptional bloodlines. We look for feminine ewes with natural breed character. In short, animals that embody the working ability this breed is renowned for. We scan at 175-180% most years, and our ewes consistently rear their lambs with minimal intervention. That's the kind of performance we're breeding for, and it's what we hope these tups will bring to your operations.

These tups have been managed commercially. They've not been pampered or wrapped in cotton wool. We lamb in late April and May, and these are the cream of the crop from our 2023 lambs. We hope they will do well for you and strengthen your flocks.

Special thanks to Matthew McLaughlin and Alan Elliott, for preparing these rams for our sale. We are confident these tups represent honest, working genetics that will get on with the job. That's what North Country Cheviots do best, and it's what we've tried to breed into every animal we're offering.

Good luck with your bidding and thank you for your interest in Glebefarm Livestock's North Country Cheviots.

GLEBEFARM DIAMOND LAD

SIRE : Allanshaw Vantastic
As a shearling Diamond Lad had an infection in his right ear which left it displayed low but is sound.

Diamond Lad is a 3 shear tup with a tremendous dept of body and correct in every way, sired by Vantastic out of an Allanshaw ewe. Diamond Lad is similarly bred as Glebefarm Class Act, that was purchased by Roderick Rucimen and went on to breed Allenshaw Jen, 2024 Highland Show champion and Eye Candy, 2024 Lockerbie Champion selling for joint record price of 15,000 gns.
